EDMONTON

Edmonton is the capital of the Province of Alberta (population 1924—63,160). Situated one hundred miles south of the geographical centre of the province on North Saskatchewan river. Two great railway systems of Canada centre on Edmonton—Canadian National and Canadian Pacific. Edmonton is the most important railway centre on the Canadian National system between Winnipeg and the Pacific coast. The Canadian National railway has extensive terminals and car shops and employs about 1,800. Total yearly payroll of the railways and express companies of the city is placed at $4,380,000.

Edmonton is the wholesale centre of a rich farming, ranching and dairy territory, with a radius of one hundred miles. Ten branch lines of railways radiate from Edmonton, serving over two hundred towns and villages. Two of these connect Edmonton with 2,000 miles of river and large navigation in the north, and open up for trade the rich hinterland of Canada. The Canadian National Hotel, the Macdonald, costing over $2,000,000, is one of the finest in the dominion of Canada.

The chief manufactures are: Lumber, flour, cereals, biscuits, packing house products, butter, cheese, candies and confectionery, men's heavy clothing, women's and children's wear, steel and sheet metal products, sashes, doors, house fittings, brick, brooms, soap, drugs, beverages, fur garments, boats, canoes, tents, awnings, mattresses.

Edmonton is the seat of the Provincial University, with a registration of 1,300 students. The University has several affiliated colleges. The city contains fifty churches, five hospitals, with a capacity of 3,600 beds, sixty public schools, eight high schools, four libraries, ten theatres, nineteen banks.

Industrial investment: $17,754,000, output of manufactures $21,940,000; salaries and wages of industrial concerns $6,000,000.

Central and Northern Alberta

The territory named in the title extends from the Red Deer River to the northern boundary of Alberta—a distance of 300 miles; and Eastward from the Rocky Mountains—a distance of 350 miles.

Its beauty and diversity of landscape has made it famous with travellers and tourists. Its rich soil, favorable climate, make it one of the finest grain-fodder countries in America. Investigation by the Department of Agriculture of the United States, conducted in 1923, shows that the cheapest wheat growing district in the whole of Canada and the United States, was about 40 miles northwest of Edmonton, in Central Alberta—where the average yield per acre for a number of years has been over 35 bushels per acre.

Moreover, in 1923, wheat grown by Major H. G. L. Strange, at Peau, 120 miles southeast of Edmonton, won first prize at the Chicago Grain Show.

Wheat grown by Herman Trella at Lake Saskatoon, 200 miles northwest of Edmonton, won third prize at Chicago, same year.

Oats grown by J. W. Biglands, Lacombe, 70 miles south of Edmonton, 1923, won first prize at Chicago.

Oats grown by J. H. B. Smith, Wolf Creek, 120 miles west of Edmonton, won second prize at Chicago, 1923.

Field peas grown by Major Strange won first prize at Chicago, 1923.

These winnings in competition with the best districts and best grain growers in North America demonstrate beyond controversy the suitability of Central Alberta as a grain country of unsurpassed excellence.

The average production of grain and fodder crops per farm is greater in Central Alberta than in any other district in the whole Dominion of Canada.

Last year a storage elevator for grain, with a capacity of 2,500,000 bushels, was established in Edmonton, which will promote the growing and marketing of grain in Central and Northern Alberta.

Central and Northern Alberta produced in 1924 15,400,000 lbs. of Creamery Butter, or 70% of the entire output of the province.

Central Alberta produces 2,500,000 tons of Steam and Domestic Coal annually.

250,000 Hogs and 35,000 Cattle are marketed in Edmonton annually.

Central Alberta has one of the largest natural gas fields on the continent. The ten wells in the Viking field which supply Edmonton have an open flow of 50,000,000 cubic feet per day.
